New Dramatic Society Names Members

REPLACES PLAYERS

New Organization To Produce All Full
Length Plays

Mendenhall, McCoard
And Gillis On Committee

One of out every three qualified. So announced the judges of the new dramatic organization as they offered for publication the list which will form the nucleus for the new society.

The committee composed of William McCoard, Lawrence Mendenhall, and Hugh Gillis selected the fifty after three days of tryouts in the Little Theater where reading and written tryouts were given.

All full length productions with the exception of the annual Christmas play will be cast from this group. One-act plays will not be restricted to members of this organization, but they may participate if they so choose.

The first meeting to discuss plans will be held Wednesday night at 7:30 in room 165. At that time, temporary officers will be chosen, tryouts for "School For Scandal", the first production of the newly formed society, will be discussed.

This group is taking the place of the old "San Jose Players" that was dissolved when it was thought to be getting too independent. Hugh Gillis is in charge of this as well as its predecessor, and the Speech Arts Department.

Two Hours of Merriment at Revelries On Spardi Gras Day, May 11, Says Cox

With Saxon Downs appointed as Master of Ceremonies and Randolph Fitz as co-chairman assisting Paul Cox plans for the entertainment for Spardi Gras have been progressing rapidly.

Both Saxon and Randy have had much experience in their newly appointed positions. Saxon having acted as a master of ceremonies quite frequently and Randy has traveled with various orchestra's and vaudeville shows. The Spardis Gras Committee has realized the value of these two men, and feel indeed fortunate.

Dave Good has been rehearsing his twelve chorus girls daily and they prove to be the principal feature in the entertainment for the day. Dave has been spending much time with the girls but nobody is the loser.

All musical manuscripts have been coming in much better than was expected, and according to Paul Cox, who is chairman of the entertainment for the day and in charge of Spartan Revelries, there will at least be two full hours of general entertainment on MAY THE 11!

Naas Will Be Head Of Finance Group For Spardi Gras

Clarence Naas, Mr. Thomas, and Dr. Peterson have automatically assumed positions as financial advisors for Spardi Gras day, according to Si Simoni, general chairman.

Naas, however, has been placed in the capacity of chairman for the committee, thus giving the student faction of the committee the charge.

The duties of the committee will be to okay all bills, to estimate costs and profits, and to judge whether or not concessions will be under or overcharging.

Naas has been long prominent in school affairs. He was editor of the Times for two quarters, is a member of the La Torre sales staff, and holds down the positions of chairman of finance for the student body and presides over the publications committee.

1934 Co-Ed Capers Shows Progress

The 1934 Co-Ed Capers will offer an unusual and varied program of comedy, dancing, and singing this year under the capable Rae Dobyns, it was seen from recent rehearsals. The program will be given gratis May 4 in the Morris Dailey Auditorium.

Jean Hawley of the Associated Women Students is also helping Rae with the production. Publicity is being conducted by a sophomore women's organization.

During the evening a silver offering will be taken for the benefit of the student loan fund.

Relay Team Sets Up New Record As State Downs Chico

San Jose State Varsity Track Team defeated the Chico State clan in a dual meet at Spartan Field last Saturday. The meet was featured with the Spartan relay team setting a new track record of 3:24.5. The old record being 3:26.8 and the members of this team were Arjo, Murdock, Provan and Clemo.

The Chico team proved to be much stronger than expected. They upset the dope by winning the pole vault and the low hurdles. The former was a lad named Evans who beat Watson and Prouty by going to the height of 12 feet 6 inches. Watson and Prouty dropped out at 12 feet. In the low hurdles, Hayes and Henry of Chico beat out Harry Murphy of the Spartans in the good time of 25.2.

Glenn Harper brought forth some of his old time form when he won the mile event in record time of 4:34. This was two seconds better than the time of Hotchkiss of Fresno who won this event in the meet with the Fresno team. Harper came back in the 880 event to collect another win. This race was scheduled to be won by Fred Orem of State, but he was outclassed on the back stretch by Harper and Schneider of the visitors. These two boys battled neck and neck up to the finish line where Harper won by a nose. This was by far the closest race of the day. The time recorded was poor considering the performances turned in by Orem in previous meets.

Five Hundred Students Fined For Late Fees

There are about 500 students who have yet to play their class fees. However, approximately 200 have had their fees extended. The other 300, through carelessness, forgetfulness, and the habit of leaving things until the last minute, are due for an extra charge of $1.00. Some kind of a reminder has to be given to these irresponsible types though, and a money charge is usually a good one.

Sweetland Talks

Will Speak On Subject
Of "What Outlook
For Students"

State is very fortunate in having on our campus today, Dr. Sweetland, one of the outstanding progressives in the country—a young man who graduated from Syracuse University just a year or two ago, but has already won recognition of our national leaders as being one of the best informed men today on the social and economic situation in our country.

As editor of the "Student Outlook", and intercollegiate student publication, he has been in intimate touch with progressive students in all of our leading colleges. He is vitally interested in what this generation of college students, which has been called a surplus generation, will do to make a place for itself after graduation. He will speak to us today on, "What Outlook for Students", and we may expect some definite program that we as students must push if we hope for jobs after graduation.

Sweetland is being sent to us by the League for Industrial Democracy, the same organization which has given us Paul Blanchard and Norman Thomas. The talk will begin at 12:15 in the quad.

THE SPORT SPOTLIGHT

By
Conroy and Cox

San Jose's premier sprinter, Captain Lou Salvato, and Sparta's broad jumper, Doug Taylor, have the opportunity to have all their expenses paid to Los Angeles to compete in the National Collegiate Association Championships to be sponsored by the University of Southern California on June 22 and 23.

College track coaches throughout the United States recently received a bulletin in which U.S.C.'s Athletic Director, Willis Hunter, announced that the Trojan school is raising funds to bring the eight best track and field performers in each event to Los Angeles to compete in the N.C.A.A. meet in June.

Required Times And Distances Listed

In part, the notice read: "It is recommended that applications for expense allowances be sent in for all athletes who have equalled or bettered the following marks during the season of 1934."

Salvato, Taylor Qualify

The two Spartans, Taylor and Salvato, have bettered the marks listed above.

Lou Salvato has marks in both dash events that eclipse those of the qualification. To date this season, the diminutive Spartan leader has run the century twice in 9.7 and once in 9.6. His best mark in the 220 in 21.2, recorded in the Fresno Meet last week.

Doug Taylor bettered the qualifying leap of 24 feet by 5 and 3-4 inches last week, competing in the Fresno Meet.

Meet Held During Summer

Although the NCAA meet is to be held in the latter part of June, two weeks after school closes and 6 weeks after actual track season, both Salvato and Taylor will keep in shape if they are selected as one of the first eight in their events and receive their traveling expenses to the meet.

The coaches are asked to submit the names of their likely candidates by May 22. It is not known when the Southern California officials will post the list of the men accepted.

Former St. Mary's Stars Report To DeGroot

Having watched most of the men reporting to Coach DeGroot this afternoon for spring football practice, last season, most campus eyes will be focused on the four former Gael stars who start their San Jose football careers this afternoon.

The greatest prospect is Jim Stockdale, halfback, whom we are told caused the St. Mary's publicity director to buy the latest synonym dictionary in search of suitable words to describe the gridiron prowess of the speedy halfback.

Then there is Dick Johnson, who has to date had the campus sport tongues wagging on his ability as a basketball performer. From all reports Johnson is as adept at the end position on the turf as he is on the hardwood.

The Gael transfer list is completed with Don Pors, lineman, and Vin Wall, halfback. They are both expected to give the Spartan lettermen a battle for their positions.

Spartan Mermen Defeat Menlo J.C. Swimmers; Score 47 To 28

F.W.C. Two Mile Features Fresno, San Jose Runners

The last and longest of the distance events is the two mile grind, and again it looks as though Fresno will lead the way across the finish line.

Hickey of the Bulldogs broke the tape well ahead of Lynch Saturday and showed that he has all the qualifications of a winning two-miler. As a matter of fact, Harry Stoddard's mark of 9:57.8 will be in dire danger if the Raisin City runner opens up to his full capacities. He had little trouble in taking Lynch in the Fresno-San Jose meet and the time of 10:04 looked to be an omen of pleasure to Hanner.

Lynch, on the other hand, seems to be able to run a far better race than he has shown here-to-fore. Pace is the problem the Sacramento two-miler has to contend with. Not blessed with an exceptionally fast finish, Lynch can go out and run a steady clip. If he can speed up his 10:25 slightly, the Spartan outlook will be considerably brighter.

The battle for third and fourth will be between McDonald of Chico, Hart of Fresno (if he runs) and Arentz of Nevada.

The hurdles will make or break San Jose's chances. In the highs Murphy will be Blesh's hope of piling up Spartan points. Ward of Fresno is naturally favored to win with several times of under 15 flat this year. The tall Fresno hit a hurdle in the San Jose meet and Murphy went on to win in 15.2. However, Ward's times bear out the fact that here is the man to watch.

Captain Feck of Cal Aggies has been running consistently in 15.2, the best time that Murphy has turned in. It looks as though these two men will be fighting it out for second spot in the Conference meet. Feck was one of the point winners for the Davis team last year and it looks as though he can be depended upon to score again.

Haynes of Chico and Wright of the Aggies will be fighting it out for fourth spot with the Chico hurdler due to cut in to the one point total.

The low hurdles present a different situation, with several new faces in the race this year. The first two are Haynes of Chico and Wright of the Aggies, neither of whom ran last year. A week ago they tied in 24 flat, the fastest time in the Conference this season. Both men are probably capable of running close to the record time 23.8, which is at present held by Floyd Wilson, who will also be present to defend his laurels on May 5.

Wilson had little trouble in beating Murphy last Saturday in 24.3, and may be able to top that performance in another week. The battle for first should be a corker, with Wright, Haynes and Wilson coming in for a blanket.

For fourth spot, Murphy of San Jose and Henry of Chico look to be the logical candidates. Murphy has run around 24.8 this year, while Henry has not reached his 1933 form. Last year the Wildcat representative won the lows in 24 flat, but thus far he has consistently bowed to the superior hurdling of Haynes.

Discus Won Again By Raymond

by Captain Lau Salvato who won the 100 and 220. Carl Robinson skipped the century and saved himself for the longer race. The result was that Carl beat out the Chico man for second place. Doug Taylor only ran the hundred and finished next to Salvato. The times in these races were just average, considering the splendid times turned in at the Fresno meet.

Raymond Beats Teammates

With Doug Kinnard on the sidelines with a sore wrist, the Chico weightmen swept the shot with a first and second place. Jorgenson of the Wildcat team threw the iron ball out 44 feet 6 inches which was three feet better than any State man has done this season. The tables were reversed, however with the results of the discus event. Raymond, the sensational Spartan sophomore, won the platter throwing contest with a heave of 131 1 1-2 inches. McPhetres followed in second place and if Marquis had been eligible, he would have taken third. Marquis, however, confined his points to the high jump where he tied for first place with Luther of Chico. They finished jumping at the height of 5 feet 10 inches. Wittenburg of State finished third.

Chico Man Beats

Prouty And Watson

The pole vault was an event where Chico sneaked in some unexpected points. Watson and Prouty who have hovered around 12 feet 6 inches all season failed to get up this high. Chico's entrant, Evans won the event at this height. The two Spartan vaulters tied for second.

Sparta's star hurdler, Harry Murphy, showed class in the high hurdles when he beat out Haynes of the Wildcats. However in the low's the results were reversed when Haynes took Murphy's measure by a good five yards. Henry, a teammate of Haynes followed in second place.

The results follow:

Condit Sets Backstroke Record; Relay Team Breaks Mark

Taking every first place but one, the Spartan swimming team Friday night defeated the Menlo Jaycee mermen by a 47-28 score.

The meet was featured by the setting of two new records. The first of these came in the 100 yard backstroke when Condit broke Draper's school record of 1:14.3, swimming a fast race to finish in 1 minute 12.6 seconds.

The second record came when the 150 yard medley relay team of Condit, Houser and Ambrose broke the pool record of 1:32.3 held by the Clarke, Foster and Dean of Stanford and the school record of 1:31.2 held by Holt, Houser, and Draper when they finished in the fast time of 1 minutes 27.9 seconds.

The single first place taken by Menlo was credited to Sexton in the 220 yard freestyle when he won in the fast time of 2 minutes 26.4 seconds. Sexton swam a beautiful race to easily beat his teammate Davis, who barely nosed out Fitzgerald of San Jose for second place.

In the diving, San Jose took first and second when Charlie York and John Winters finished in that order, third was taken by Rosenthaler of Menlo.

Bill Ambrose took a first in the 100 yard freestyle race only to drop to a third in the 50, which was won by Ray Sherwin in 26.5 seconds. Sexton and Buchmann of Menlo took the second place in these races.

SEVENTY EXPERIENCED GRIDDERS EXPECTED TO REPORT FOR PRACTICE

32 Lettermen Return For 1934 Football Season Here

Seventy odd grid aspirants will report to Head Coach Dud DeGroot and his assistants Bill Hubbard and Jay Tod this afternoon for the opening session of a six week spring training program.

Confident that all men reporting, 32 of last year's varsity, 23 graduates of last year's frosh, and 20 transfers and men out for the first time, are thoroughly acquainted with the DeGroot system, the "Miracle Man of Washington Square" plans to conduct the entire six weeks on a team play basis.

The customary long fundamental drills will be a thing of the past on the San Carlos turf according to DeGroot.

Gaps To Be Filled

Using the returning lettermen as a nucleus for his 1934 Spartan football machine, DeGroot's big job in the coming weeks is to find men capable of filling the gaps left by Bud Hubbard, end and captain of last year's team. Collins, guard, voted the most valuable Spartan at the conclusion of the 1933 season. Moose Buchler, first string tackle, Carl Sandholdt, guard, and Johnny Hines, on whose shoulders rode the 1933 backfield burden.

Hubbard and Collins completed their allotted years of competition, but Buchler and Sandholdt, with eligibility of one and two years respectively, plan to transfer to Stanford at the end of this quarter. As for Hines—nothing has been heard of him since he left school at Christmas. Hines didn't return for spring practice, which has led DeGroot to give up hopes of having the crashing backfield ace for football warfare on the local fields.

Shehtanian or Wool To Replace Hines

DeGroot's search for a fullback is well under way. At present the Spartan mentor intends to experiment with Dee Shehtanian or Bob "Red" Wool at the key position. Wool will not be on hand for spring practice but will answer the call of the gridmen in September.

Although not a triple threat men, Shehtanian possesses a world of natural football instinct and ability, and should be just what the doctor ordered for the key of the DeGroot attack.

Playing at left half last season, Shehtanian was considered one of the outstanding defensive backs in the Far Western Conference. An "ailing" trick knee hampered his offensive style considerably, but the team physician, "Doc" Threlfall, has nursed the knee into fair shape, and the big boys feel that he will be ready to "pack the mail" when the actual football season gets under way.

For the vacated guard posts DeGroot will have such men as Al Azevedo, Howard Wulffing, Jack Wilson, Vic Lompa. (Continued on Page Three)

Supper Given For Miss Elma Boyer

Welcoming Miss Elma Boyer upon her return from Tucson, Arizona, A. W. S. council had a supper-meeting last Thursday evening. Miss Boyer represented A.W.S. at the annual Western Intercollegiate conference, where she received many valuable ideas which will be included in the A.W.S. program in the future.

New freshmen women were guests of honor at the supper, and President Evelyn Pritchard explained to them the A.W.S. facilities on the campus which are for their use.

Rapid progress in plans for Co-ed Capers was reported by Jean Hawley. A game of chance will be the concession of A.W.S. on Spardi Gras Day, according to Jean Sellers, who is in charge of the booth. Plans for a women student-parent-faculty tea in the latter part of May were discussed.

Inez Philbrick and Lela May O'Connell were the committee in charge of the supper, the first one to be held this quarter.

Zoology Classes Visit San Francisco Zoo On April 26

A trip to San Francisco by the General Zoology and part of the General Biology classes was taken April 26.

The purpose of the trip was to visit the Fleischacker Zoo, the Aquarium and the various buildings of science. Special attention was made on the comparing of various animals, the mode of adaptation, and the general habits.

Some 60 students took this annual trip. Dr. Gayle Pickwell and Dr. Earl Count took charge and gave brief lectures during the visitation of the many interesting animals and sites.

Pegasus Adds Two Members To Club

Two new members were admitted into the literary society, Pegasus, at the meeting at the home of Vivienne Peterson, Tuesday evening, April 24. Frances Britton and Noel Chalmers were admitted upon the reading of their manuscripts.

Poetry and short stories were read by the members. The committee for the picnic was appointed by Jean Sewell Penn, and includes Vivienne Peterson, Ethel Lee Rublen, and John Burke.

Kindergarten Club Members Enjoy Supper

Forty-four members of the Kindergarten-Primary Club attended the Gypsy Supper held at the home of Ruth Raymond in Los Altos. Homemade baked beans, doughnuts, fortune telling, and community singing by candle light made the evening very enjoyable. Mrs. Elizabeth Cameron Walsh of the Education Department gave a very instructive talk on her early experiences in teaching.

She stressed friendship for children and professional loyalty. Miss Emily DeVore of the Education Department entertained with one of her inimitable stories. Miss Helen McKee, daughter of Mrs. Jane McKee, who wrote, "The Progressive Primary Teacher", one of the text books used in the Education department, was guest of honor.

Mrs. Gray wishes to thank Ruth Raymond and her mother, Mrs. Fletcher Raymond, who extended the hospitality of their home, Bernadine Nurnberger, Dorothy Owens, Jane Martin, Mildred Murgotten, Dorothea Levy, Dorothy Wiese, Dorothy Bond, Mary Howard, and many others for helping to make the party a success.

pa, Bill Wetzel, and Henry Becker of last year's varsity and George Cannell, outstanding lineman of last year's frosh squad to choose from.

Barrachi Returns To Fold

Being kept on the sidelines last season by an attack of appendicitis, Charlie Barrachi, once again dons the mole-skins, and will attempt to regain his first string end position, which he so successfully held down in the 1932 season. The return of Barrachi is welcomed by DeGroot, who has been worrying who he was going to use for a heads-up fast charging end to replace Bud Hubbard. Barrachi is just the man to fill the position.

Good Material From Frosh Squad

Coming up from last year's undefeated frosh squad are a group of linemen that will make a strong bid for regular varsity starting posts. Cannell, the all-city guard, from Mission High in San Francisco, is considered a likely choice for a guard position.

Barney Swartzell, center, will be pushing Whitaker and Meyer all the way for the call at the pivot position. Swartzell is an eastern product and has possibilities of developing into the best ball-snapper that ever hit this campus.

At the tackle position the frosh squad offers as its best bet Johnny Schofield. Playing a majority of the time last year, Schofield showed well, and will be fighting to fill Buehler's vacated tackle spot.

New Men Reporting

No doubt the outstanding men reporting for football for the first time at San Jose, are four former St. Mary's gridgers, namely, Dick Johnson, of basketball fame, Jim Stockdale, halfback, Vin Well, back, and Don Fors, guard. Then there is Johnny Leo, man mountain tackle, who becomes eligible this year, after transferring from U.S.F.

Morris Dailey Scene Of Talk On Last Thursday

Covering fifteen years in fifteen minutes Sir H. Ames, a former member of the Canadian Parliament and for seven years associated with the secretary of the League of Nations, spoke on Franco-German relations since the World War, before a general assembly last Thursday at 11 o'clock in the Morris Dailey Auditorium.

The relationship of the two great continental powers, France and Germany are the fundamental basis of any settlement to be made in Europe, according to Sir Ames. To bring these two countries together was considered the first prerequisite of peace by the leading post.

GERMANY MADE MEMBER

"In 1919 France and Germany were as far apart as the poles," stated Sir Ames and added that they were gradually brought nearer together.

Although the leading powers would not admit Germany as a charter member of the League of Nations, it was later considered advisable to give her membership because questions vitally concerning her welfare were being discussed.

COUNTRIES BOUND TOGETHER

On September 10, 1926, the twelfth anniversary of the battle of the Marne, the Germans applied for and received admittance to the great international league. Sir Ames described interesting details of the assemblage as he saw it from his vantage position in a forth row seat. Briand and Straasman, representing their respective countries were the leading speakers of that day and formed a close friendship that helped bind their countries more closely until the death of the two great statesmen.

In conclusion, Sir Ames, contrasted Germany's present isolated position, which is of her own free will with the situation before 1925 when she was considered an outcast by the victorious allies. Then Germany was excluded from the league now she has voluntarily withdrawn.

Fishing Notes

By BILL HORSTMANN

With fishing season opening tomorrow, May 1, all men with that natural born instinct of fishing will be out tomorrow on various streams in and out of Santa Clara County in an attempt to bring back the joy of a fisherman's life—a limit of trout.

Some will achieve that goal, others will not, and it is for the latter group that this article is intended. Perhaps we can even give you an idea of where to go and where not to, that is if your mind is not already made up, because one thing that a fisherman hates is to have someone tell him of a place where they bite like fiends, are all fighters, and a limit can be had for the taking—and then keep it a dark secret as to whereabouts. Each Isack Walton has his special rapid or its pool where he imagines the fish are as hungry as the devil and waiting to be had, and any other suggestion isn't approved of at all.

Fish Scarce

In Sierras

But let's get into the problem at hand—where to go on the First. From all reports that are available, many persons that go into the Sierras are going to be disappointed this year. The snow has gone away unusually fast and as a result places that only the hardest could reach last year will be open to everyone—result—five men on each good hole.

San Lorenzo

and Soquel Good

For State students the best bet seems to be the San Lorenzo and its various tributaries. The water is low at the present and this always insures plenty of hungry fish. The fish and game commission have been busy stocking the streams with fish well over the minimum size throughout the year and this, added to the large number of steelhead that are in the deeper pools seems to point to good catches.

The steelhead will strike spinners, spawn on a rather large hook, and late in the evening or in the early morning will take for a fly hook. As for trout the most reliable bait is salmon eggs. Fly casting along with being greater sport will also lure out the larger ones, but this is one phase of fishing that requires practice, there isn't anything in the world that can irritate faster than to tangle your line in overhanging trees and bushes, just when you've found a likely looking spot.

The Soquel creek has been closed along certain portions to try to make fishing better for next year. It is closed or going to be closed near the mouth, but back up in the Soquel hills fishing should be good. Large runs of steelhead have been reported and as they always stay for a month or so yet here is another stream where if you like fighting fish you can get them.

These two streams seem to be the best in this region for various reasons, they are the easiest to get to, the fish are there and that just about covers everything. A real fisherman would only consider the last reason.

So there you are, you will come back either a successful fisherman or a liar.

Faculty Enjoy Trip To Mare Island On Last Tuesday

Professors Minnsen and Kelley, together with Mr. Thompson, Financial Secretary, and Mr. Thomas, Controller, made a trip on Tuesday afternoon to the Mare Island Navy Yards of the Federal Government with Mr. Hughlet, of the Food Machinery Co., for the purpose of seeing the operation of one of the government's great shipbuilding enterprises.

Captain W. Druly discussed the problems of battleship construction, and Lieutenant Commander A. C. Bridges lectured on the cost accounting procedure of the Navy Yard. The tour was exceedingly interesting and informative.

NOTICE

Anyone desiring to work on Spar-di Gras Committees, is asked to see Si Simoni, general chairman for the event, at once, or to leave a notice in his office in the union.

POETRY

— FRAGMENTS —

White beaches—
And the coral sands that lie,
Sapphire girl, like studded jewels
Beneath a tropic sky.
And golden man and dusky maid,
Pearl diving in a green lagoon,
Echo the singing laughter of the waves,
Disturb the silver shadow of the moon.
And purpled winged ones pass—
Forerunners of the coming dawn—
And there beneath the swaying, rhythmic palm
All life in rainbow hues goes on.
White beaches—
And the coral sands that lie,
Sapphire girl, like studded jewels
Beneath a sapphire sky.

—Gladys Lawry

— THE SENORITA —

A dancing senorita,
Notes from softly strummed guitars,
And the rancho's once more haunted,
'Neath the sky, the moon, the stars.

At night the dons come back again
To live and love once more;
Their spirits linger in the groves
And wait around the door.

The senorita dances on Down orchard, highway, lane,
A symbol of the days long gone
When West looked east to Spain.
—Gladys Lawry

Dear Comrades

Dear Comrades:

Things like this never happened in Russia. Here I come to this college to try to bring them the light of my inspired presence, and when I wander into the Spartan Daily office they tell me to write a column. Because, they say, you are an interesting character. And also, we haven't any Rooshians on the staff, and besides, you are a big guy.

Well, I am not anxious to be a columnist, because you see in The Soviet Republic, they have a good habit of shooting columnists. But the editor of the paper says he does not think this will happen here. It seems that in this queer country they cannot shoot people. They only put them in jail, and let them live off the rest of the people who are outside. I do not see the wisdom of this, because it seems like the prisoners get all the breaks. But maybe that is because I do not understand the customs of this queer country.

I have been in every jail this side of Africa, and the only reason I have not been there is because I have never been to Africa. I think the United States jails are very nice, but not so good as the jails of the enlightened republic. Here they do not have any vodka.

And that is why the United States doesn't have any great writers. I bet you my new pair of boots that even you could get inspired to be a Tolstoi or a Pushkin—on two glasses of vodka. . . I am thinking of laying in a supply. But I would have to smuggle it in and I understand that now that is not such good form, although once it was listed along with baseball and football as the great American pastime. I wonder if I should write to my congressman about it.

Also, I am not sure that this betting is good form, because some State students got caught shooting dice. I am not sure just what betting has to do with this. Maybe it is out of season or they do not have any license. I bet I would be good at this game because I have shot many white Russians, as it is always open season on them.

Well, I think I must close, as I must get about with my Red Propaganda, or the Soviet will be on my tail, I mean trail. Give my love to Sonia, and tell her I would marry her but it is too

RECENT RELEASES

"BREAKFAST BALL"

This disc pressed by Jimmy Lunsford was probably done only for its orchestration. The trumpet solo might interest some, the sax chorus may interest others, the tune will interest none, except extreme jazzists. "Here Goes" on reverse side has a little better tune, little better lyrics, but has less versatility in arrangements.

"WE'RE OUT OF THE RED"

This new released number is played by Paul Whiteman with Traumbourer sax solo and Ramona's rendition of lilting lyrics, that deal with everything from the N.R.A. to the spiritualist hall-louah meeting. Nothing outstanding however, is done by the aggregation.

"SHADOWS OF LOVE"

Starting out with a bang Glen Gray cools down after a few bars. Tune doesn't fit the title, as two-four time suggests anything but reverie. Vocalist Pee-wee Hunt does a good job with the lyrics. It's a swell recording, give it a listen.

"POOR LITTLE FLOWER"

Waltz King Wayne treats this number very beautifully. For all sax players not "up" in their waltz playing, listen to the second chorus. For violinists, listen to third chorus. Everyone, listen to the whole record. To Wayne King, try listening to Bach.

"WAITING FOR THE EVENING MAIL"

This dusky platter musta been sent through the mails with an asbestos wrapping. Red Nichols, a local boy, who made better in the east, goes to church in hot and blaring manner. Nichol's vocalist comes away from the same church in the same way. Listen to this and then hand the record back, if you can.

"IN OTHER WORDS, WE'RE THROUGH"

Starting this number out in typical Fit-Rito fashion, ol' Ted swings it right along a pleasant lapse of three minutes. Muzzy also gives a pleasant interpretation of the lyrics.

"100 YEARS FROM TODAY"

This recording came out the same time as did "I Just Couldn't Take It," but dumb public as we are, we could not see the possibilities in the number until just recently. Glen Gray's playing of the song gives us more proof that the number should have become popular long ago.

"JUNGLE FEVER"

The four sun-tanned Mills Brothers harmonized this one before leaving for their tour of Europe. Not as warmish as the usual Mills' grooved discs, but it will do when you run out of wood for the stove.

"WAITING AT THE GATE FOR KATIE"

We'd hate to wait at the gate for this Katie, that is, if she is as bad as the tune, especially the way which Anson Weeks tickles the ivories in one of the choruses. Brother Crosby flings Bing's voice at you with the usual family tear in the throat.

Another Whiteman recording, but this one is a little better than his average. Paul and his boys put a swinging tempo into the arranging that'll make you feel like sitting any other but this one out. Jack Fulton sings his parvery romantically. "True" is truly a transcription worth hearing at least once.

"I HATE MYSELF"

Ah, but we love the way Isham Jones plays the tune. The sock used to accentuate the rhythm is a little trickier than used in most orchestrations, but it does not mar the sweetness of the melody in the least. You will no doubt love Jones' vocalist and his heart-breaking rendition of the clever words.

"THE HOUSE IS HAUNTED"

Still another Whiteman release recently distributed. The melody weird as it is, will keep you humming to yourself and your gal, if you are unlucky enough to possess one, for a long while. Ramona, the lass with the lovely voice, throats the lyrics which deal with a house being haunted by one that had left a while bofer; our ol' friend Annie musta been mixed up in the case somehow. "Beat of my Heart" is the engrossing composition on the reverse ground, only this time the tune is more lively and the Rhythm Boys help lovely Ramona with the singing.

Les Bibliophiles Enjoy First Event Of Quarter

Ping-pong, badminton, and table tennis were enjoyed by Les Bibliophiles and members of the library staff at a Recreation night, Wednesday evening in the women's gym.

Winifred McIntyre and Margaret Jones were in charge of the refreshments which were served to all those attending. This was one of the first events sponsored by the library club this quarter, and was successful in helping the older members to become acquainted with their "little sisters".

Animals Photographed By Dr. Pickwell

A group of unusual and interesting photographs of birds, snakes, toads, and other animals have recently been copyrighted by Dr. Gayle B. Pickwell, biology instructor. A gopher snake skin that had recently been shed, a family of owls, and birds whose feather patterns blend perfectly with the surrounding environment illustrate the variety and type of nature scenes shown in the four dozen pictures.

"Nature Story Pictures", a booklet on animal studies by Dr. Pickwell was written in connection with the photographs and is just off the press.

LOST

Will the person who was seen taking Tucker's "Modern Plays" from the library, please return it to Helen Buswell or be called into Dr. MacQuarrie's office.

hard to get a divorce here, it takes at least six weeks. . . Besides, I do not think it is truly communistic, marriage, I mean, because we should always share everything.

So longski, ecker, Bernice Harchener, Alma Garrett, Ruth Smith, Mary K. Sheaff, Chargin, and Ann Thackeray.

There are six character building agencies embraced in the Community Chest program and Budget, and it is intended that each shall have an opportunity to demonstrate to the people of San Jose and Santa Clara just what is done towards forming character by youth activities.

The people of San Jose are invited to attend the open house and according to Miss Winifred Wardell, social service executive at the Center, they will have a chance to see the work in the making.

The Center will present no fore-arranged program there will be no rehearsing of a set up best adopted to appeal to the people interested in character building or to those who subscribe to the chest.

The various groups who have worked under these directors or with them, ranging from the children who enjoy the supervised play at the Center, through those of the teen age to the working girls' group, will present their activities as if no audience were present.
